

Think About It

What can I do and say that helps other people feel respected and heard? What is required to show respect for someone different?

